It is very important for you to have a education. There are many reasons to why you should go to school because school and your education depends on your future. Three of the reasons why you should go to school is so you can have a very important job, it will make it much easier in your future, and you'll have something better for your own kids.

The first reason as to why you should go on with your education is so you will have a better job. You will have the chance to earn more money. With more money you will be able to buy your dream house and car. "Wouldn't you want to have want you dreamed of?" But, if you don't go on with your education you might have to live with your parents and have a used car. "I'm sure you wouldn't want that."

It will also make it easier in your life. You will have a wonderful future with your job that maybe you will be all over the news for being the worker of the month. And with being all over the news you might even get a better job that might even get payed more.

Also, it will be better for your kids in the future. You will have the chance to have what you didn't have when you were younger. They will be very proud to have parents who finished their education and maybe they will finish there education too.

If you are one of the kids that don't care about your education think again. You can start by doing your homework and having good grades. That will lead you to a happy future. "So finish your education!"
