USING DATA AS A LEVER FOR SCHOOL IMPROVEMENT

Today, more than ever before, there is a need to collect, store, summarize, analyze and report student data to make decisions and improve outcomes for students.

Assessment and accountability systems are expanding, new technologies are available, and the need for data extends beyond classroom teaching and learning to strategic planning, personnel, financial, facilities, & operational data. At the same time, schools have more data than ever before.

Join this community of practice to learn practical skills for leading with data including the lifecycle of K12 data, how to build better data systems at your schools, and most importantly how to be a data-driven leader.
